A group of - upper class - white and black women, in designer high heels and flattering dresses, briefly "adressed" the issue.